On September 6, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-Six, 107 eager, bright-faced lads took their first step in preparation for the future by enrolling as seniors in Darlington.

Many of these boys were entering Darlington for the first time, others were back for the second year, and a few had seen as many as three or four years slide slowly by at the Alma Mater.

The ball is passed around in morning assembly celebrating victory over McCallie.

As the excitement wore off and the color of being a senior faded, each boy found himself the center of a universe of problems which orbited around as the Solar System to the Sun. Each boy had his own set of problems and consequently each boy had to work out these problems for himself. The greater part of these problems were adjustment and the boys did a fine job of solving them. The class as a whole had several obstacles facing it.

Faces brightened and every man sat up without being told. The boys who were usually half or completely asleep opened their eyes and were suddenly startled and amazed to hear what they had heard. The teachers turned their heads away from counting the boys and listened attentively. Mr. Moser himself was captivated by this announcement he was making. What could this have been to succeed in attaining the attention of all?

Nothing in the history of the school had done this. It was the notification that the school was going to have a pool table. A regulation pool table. Mr. Moser could hardly wait to dismiss the assembly, and when he said, "Let's go to class," there were five boys injured in a mad stampede to the recreation room. But to the dismay of several hundred only an uncovered slab of slate, braced by four legs was all that was to be found. Hopes were still high, though, and in a few days a man came and fixed the table and completely recovered it. The recreation room was rechristened "the pool hall," and millions entered and left the room daily. If one were lucky enough to fight his way through the sardine-packed mob he could sign up for the next game that was open. This was, of course, to take place sometime next week, as there was a list ahead of your name two meters long. Some seniors had considered taking a post graduate course the next year, so that they might get their turn at the table.

Your sub-conscious prepares to do mortal combat over the question with your conscious.

The battle is never started — your conscious wins by bringing in allies in the form of a proctor who throws the door open and snaps on the lights.

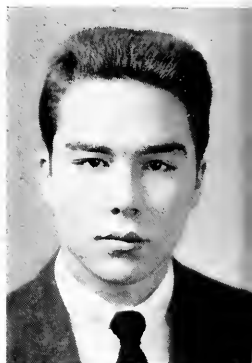

The time 6:49 A.M., it is not yet light. You are warmly nestled in your bed, at peace with the world, fully unaware that over in the dining room treachery is afoot.

In this brightly lighted room several people sit cheerfully chatting and watching a large clock while its sweep-second second hand dissolves the last minute of peace and silence.

At 6:50 A.M. a button is pushed in the dining room — in the dormitory the quiet air struggles against and loses to the clanging cacophony of a bell. Your conscious tells you it's time to get up while your sub-conscious says the bell is just your imagination.

Once again the air is split by two long jangles from the bell in succession — someone down the hall shouts. "At your doors!"

You roll from beneath the covers and struggle to your feet, stagger to the door and lean against the nave while the roll is checked.

The cry goes out, "Dismissed!"

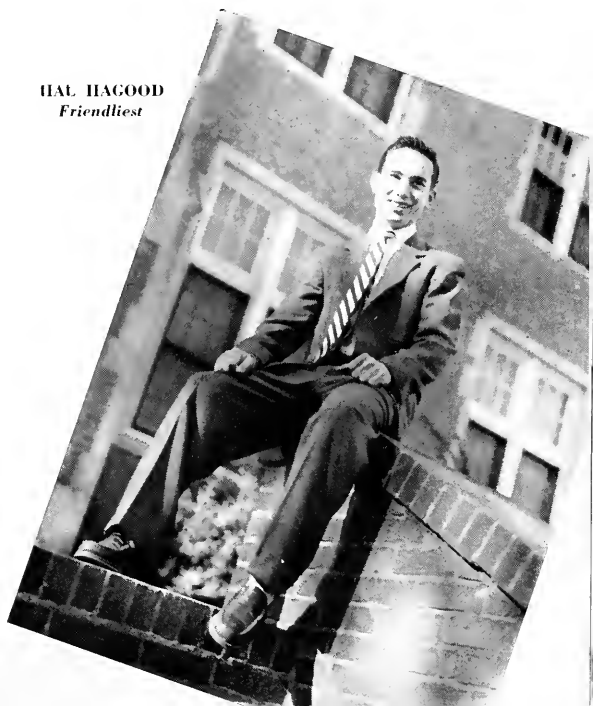

You walk back to the bed, sit down and stare with unseeing eyes and closed mind at the blank wall before you.

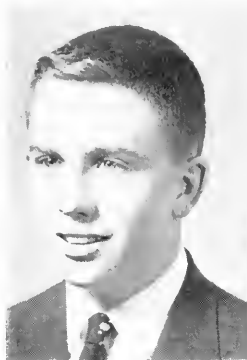

After about five minutes you struggle to your feet, wash your face, brush your teeth, comb your hair, and dress.

You start to breakfast with the happy thought that you won't have to go through the ordeal of getting up again until tomorrow.

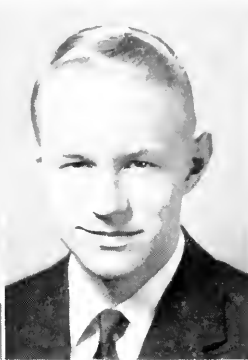

Your Darlington day has begun . . .

Darlington, being a school of the highest caliber, is filled with music lovers.

Almost every boy has a fascination for one type of music or another.

Music affects how some pick their friends and makes up a large part of dormitory conversation. There isn't a boy in the whole student body that doesn't dedicate a large part of his time both listening to and discussing music.

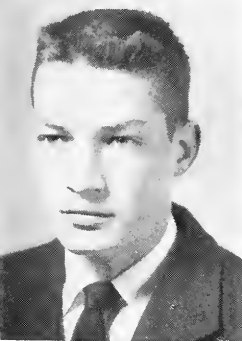

The music lovers at Darlington are divided into six basic clans — Hillbilly, Hot Jazz and Dixieland, Rhythm and Blues, Popular, Progressive Jazz, and Classical. Each boy is a member of one or more of these clans, from there the clans narrow down into smaller groups that consist of the fans and disciples of particular artists and composers.

Darlington you will hear coming from many record players and radios a curious potpourri of Elvis Presley, Ruth Brown, Eddie Condon, Mozart, Joni James, and Dave Brubeck.

If a boy should happen to find no interest in music before he enters Darlington the atmosphere to which he is subjected compels him to listen and eventually to realize the true beauty of music — the ability “to take black notes from white paper and bring wonderful life to them.” and he may become important to his musical clique.

Music now and will always constitute a long part of Darlington’s personality.

Inspection is over, thirty minutes before the calendar of the day is set to motion — coach classes are attended or plain relaxation is enjoyed.

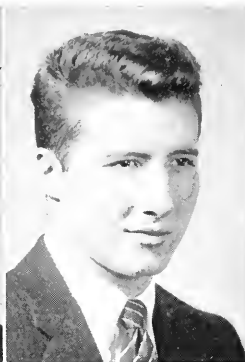

8:30 — one long bell, you stop whatever you are doing and begin to get yourself in order for the day and two bells ring, you leave the room, walk down the hall and are half way down the steps when three bells ring. You race down the steps.

When you hit the bottom you become part of a seething, jousting mob. You travel with the mob until you reach your row and then you push sideways toward it, which is hard to do in a moving mob. You reach your seat and fall into it. The room is rumbling with many and varied conversations and over it all you hear, "Will you sit up please" — the room falls into silence. The devotional and all announcements are given and then you hear what you don't want to hear, "Let's go to class." Once again you become part of the mob lumbering toward the door.

The school store is an institution of everyday life at Darlington.

Here the boys meet to discuss the problems of the world and things in general.

This oasis for the Darlington boy is run by two friendly and hard working ladies — Mrs. Yankee and Mrs. Merson.

Food and drink are the greatest attractions of the store; but other necessities of life, such as — soap, toothpaste, stationery, and all school supplies can be purchased here.

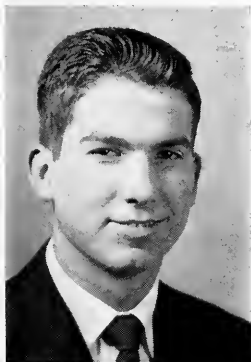

On entering the store you are met by a line of boys wishing to borrow various amounts of money; if you can work through this line and save anything left to spend, you move through a floating bull session and on to the counter. On searching the counter and looking around you can see the many attractive and tempting displays, and if you look again you can see that the store is efficiently staffed, not only by Mrs. Merson and Mrs. Yankee, but also by a sufficient number of our fellow students.

What you looking at Bill?

After making your purchase, moving across the room and sitting down you see Pete. Pete, Mrs. Yankee's dog, is a permanent fixture in the store. Pete may be seen at any time, lying on the floor and watching smugly as people walk around.

The school store relieves monotony, furnishes refreshment, and sees to the needs of every student.

By Saturday night the air has grown tense with anticipation. Another dreary school week has passed and tonight is the highlight of the week.

Supper is an exciting jumbled affair. When dismissed the boys — lower forms, seniors, and every one — race to get a good seat.

The lights grow dim and the bright spot in the Darlington boy's life has begun. The Saturday night movie at the Play House of Stars is underway.

Mr. Eustace conducts this unique event with all of the modern equipment known to the movie industry: Stereophonic sound, cinemascope screen, and projectors, plus a precision-trained projectionist.

Such Academy Award winners as The Great Train Robbery, How Green Is My Valley, and The Charge of the Light Brigade have made many a Darlington boy's life seem brighter.

The movie board has been trying for a long time to get that old-time great, The Birth of a Nation.

When the lights go on again and the hours of entertainment are over, there are some boys who cannot believe it and have to be given sedatives and carried off to bed, while others sit chanting. "More. More."

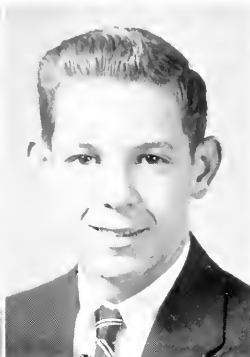

So we Darlington boys leave the Saturday night movie; but deeply rooted in our hearts, it shall remain forever.

Who, me?

Approximately one week before Christmas Vacation it starts to rain and rains until vacation begins. On returning from the Holidays we may see that it is still raining.

This is known among the boys as "the Monsoon Season." It comes as has been said just before the Christmas Holidays and lasts until the last of February.

The Field House that lives off and separated from the main campus sees its inhabitants suffering and wading to and from meals and classes.

There are no athletics during this time except varsity soccer and varsity basketball, and the dormitory walls seem to close in. Boredom, like a huge beast, lives from the fat of the land and horseplay ensues.

To control the horseplay and allow boys to study, quiet hours are held from four o'clock until six every day, and to relieve the monotony rainy day movies are shown to the boys. Of course, this is just like Christmas Holidays every day, being able to attend the Playhouse of Stars more than once a week.

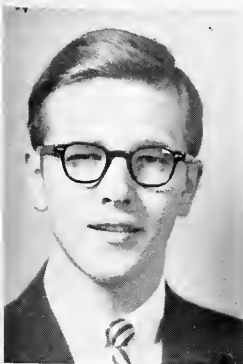

In the meantime Darlington is transformed into another Venice, gondolas and all. Boys can be seen going from class to class like free style and breast stroke champions.

The paths to Miss Bessie's are impassable and the school store does a booming business on boys with enough foresight to stock up and hoard.

When at last, "the Monsoon Season" ends and the sun shines through the clouds with light and warmth, boys pour forth from the dormitories like wild animals set free.

As the good-byes were still echoing in our ears, we first realized that we were on our way back to seventy-two days of slaving over our books. The outlook was very pessimistic, in fact so much so, that some of our brethren had to be restrained from suicidal attempts in the name of some fair maiden. The time had seemed too short and passed all too rapidly.

Upon arriving in Rome, our last hopes of salvation vanished along with some of our old inmates. Yes, it was a gloomy outlook.

When our taxi approached our beloved Alma Mater upon whose grounds we were to spend the next seventy-two days without a break, we were aroused from our dreams by the voice of our cheerful driver requesting that we get out of the car in order that he might drive over the mountains in the road. He apologized for his not having the nerve to drive around them but he had an extreme fear of alligators and other swamp animals. We could hardly blame him, for on certain nights we had heard most horrifying sounds.

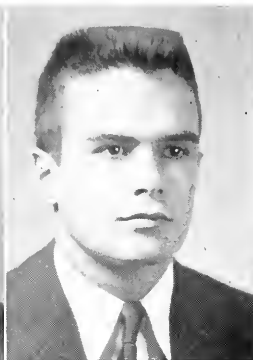

Once inside the buildings we were rushed off to bed in order to stifle any attempts of a coup d'etat. It seemed that as soon as we got to bed the second bell rang and we were dragged from our beds by our popular muscle-bound proctors.

The circle had been completed and at last we realized that seventy-two days was not such a long time after all. It was only 6,220,800 seconds.

Class is over, you rise, gather your books and start walking. You go down the steps and out of the building. As you walk down the sidewalk your hand slides into your pocket and removes the key.

This key is one of the most important factors in controlling your morale from day to day.

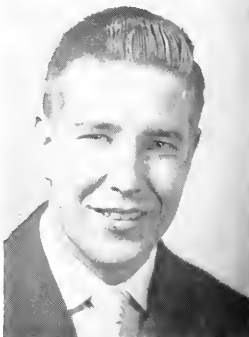

You descend from the steps at the end of the sidewalk and meet people opening letters and newspapers; you smile at them and increase your pace.

As you near the postoffice, your pace increases even more and during the last ten feet you find yourself running.

This is the highlight of the day, letters from home, papers, etc. From the time you leave the postoffice on one day, all you look forward to is the time when you can again return on the next day.

When at last you reach your box and fight for that "moment of the truth," the eager waiting is gone and you face the fact that there is nothing for you, but dust.

As you trudge on to your next class you hope that tomorrow will be more fruitful.

After casting a thoughtful glance towards the apparel of our fellow-students, we have reached several conclusions, only a few of which are shocking. Granted that the attire of the youthful set has always been casual, not to say somewhat sloppy, we should really not be surprised at anything; therefore, we herewith limit ourself to reportage and reportage alone.

The "Ivy League look" — or as some would have it, the "natural" look — is quite the thing this year, national favor being what it is. The pleatless, stovepipe-trouser bears obvious witness to this, being by far the most popular at our Alma Mater; it is usually found in khaki and charcoal-black or charcoal-brown.

As for the coats, here we also find the influence of our Eastern brethren, for they are slim, fashionably shapeless, naturally-shouldered, with tri-buttoned fronts and sleeves; muted stripes, herringbone patterns, and the darker, solid colors have their heyday in this department.

Shirts seem to be leading the field in the button-down or pin-collar style, with respectively buttoned sleeves and French cuffs. We find also that there is quite a variety in their colors this year as for instances, mint, blue, yellow, as well as the ubiquitous white.

Worn with them are toned-down ties, largely in silk repp or small-patterned designs, sometimes woven, sometimes printed.

Re the sweaters; we notice that the hues this year are definitely more subdued than in seasons past. Greys, beiges, and much, much, black are favored, with only a few timidly gaudy pastels for contrast. The "crew"-neck sweater has made its welcome re-appearance this autumn, under its new name and usually in either lambswool or Shetland. There is also an indication of the revival of the turtle-neck, possibly the most flattering of masculine sweater styles.

Due to the wide variance in styles of footwear, we really find it necessary to mention only a few of the more widely-accepted types, which perchance are also the rage on campus, that is to say, loafers — tasselled or no — dirtied bucks, and Cordovans, in the main.

We have quite successfully adapted and modified the styles and the dictates of that arbiter elegantiarum, that lately-bemoaned and presently-bejewelled cluster of colleges, the Ivy League.

MRS. ELLEN HAGOOD
Sponsor for "Y" Cabinet

The Y. M. C. A. is one of the most important student organizations here at Darlington, but it can hope to be a success only with God's help and the student body's full cooperation.

Under the leadership of the "Y" Cabinet the "Y" sponsors all the student religious activities here at Darlington. Shortly after the Christmas holidays, the "Y" sponsors a religious emphasis week. This year we were very fortunate in being able to secure one of the outstanding ministers of the Presbyterian Church, Dr. Samuel S. Wiley of the Lookout Mountain Presbyterian Church, Tennessee. Dr. Wiley is a wonderful man in his dealings with young people, and we continue to feel his influence.

The student body is the main part of the religious activity here at Darlington. The "Y" Cabinet is only your leader. . . . Hal Hagood.

Living together, as we do here at Darlington, it is necessary for both students and faculty to trust each other. This is the goal of our Honor System.

The Honor System is the expression of the will of the Student Body to be good sportsmen on the hall, in the classroom, and on the athletic field; to tell the truth and take the consequences; to take no unfair advantage of the other fellow; to respect another man's rights as well as his property, and to guard by action and words one's own honor and the good name of the school.

In order for this system to function properly representatives are chosen from each class to form an Honor Council. These boys are elected to carry on the business of the Honor System and to uphold its standards and traditions. . . . John Drinkwater.

The function of the Student Social Committee is to plan and organize the social events of the school year. Two big formals and the gala senior weekend are under the direction of this group. The committee also helps with several small informal parties given at different times during the year.

Before each function the committee members can be seen feverishly working against time. Planning, working, and thinking go into each dance in large doses. Plans must be made in advance for each function. Bands must be contracted, decorations bought, and thousands of details looked into. Finally, the night of the big dance arrives. Decorations are hung. Everything is polished, swept, and washed. More things such as decorations falling down, time mixups and missing dates fail to detract from the festive spirit. The no-break starts and the queen is crowned — to reign until the next dance. . . . Richard Smith.

This year The Darlingtonian has increased its exchange list from twenty to eighty papers including some from Maine to California to Florida. These papers have been placed on racks in the library and are changed as each new issue is received.

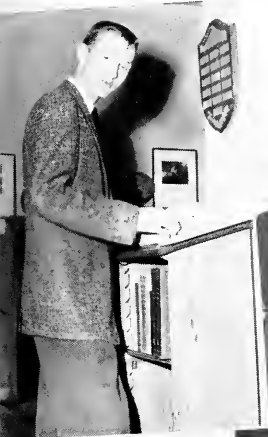

In addition to the increase in circulation, The Darlingtonian has become recognized by two leading literary organizations. The National Scholastic Press Association and the Georgia Scholastic Press Association.

Keeping things rolling in every organization and publication requires the help and cooperation of not only the members of the staff, but of you, the entire student body.

Without your help, groups like the Honor Council, the Dance Committee, the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, and all the other group functions at Darlington cannot move.

Putting out a yearbook is no one man's job.

We would like to thank Mr. Judd and Mr. Eustace for their guidance and many hours of time and advice. We would like to thank the members of the editorial staff, and business staff, and the many people who furnished us with snapshots and ideas, although we may not have gotten around to using some of them. Thanks also should go to Mr. Johnny Long and Henri Gaspar — without them this annual would not be possible.

In this book, we have tried to accomplish the task of putting together the story of 1955-1956. We hope that this will be a part of your memories, not only in the present, but in the many years to come.

MISS ANN FULTON

The Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Worth Moser, has been for many years one of the most outstanding and most popular organizations at Darlington. The group meets daily during the third period in the Recreation Room, and the time is spent in learning both sacred and secular music, from Bach to Youmans. Most of the boys who try out for the Glee Club know little about the technicalities of singing, but during the course of a year or more, they learn a great deal about voice training, harmony, solo work, and everything that goes with choral singing. Early in the school year much time is spent on vocalizing and culture in general, but as early as the middle of October, preparations are begun for the Christmas programs, which usually are performed three or four times prior to the holidays in December. After the Christmas vacation, all the time is given to the learning of heavy and light sacred music, spirituals, and some popular numbers for the spring concerts. Each year the Glee Club makes trips to some of the nearby towns and performs in some of the leading churches of Atlanta, Carrollton, Dalton, Columbus, Chattanooga, and Cartersville.

This organization, which comprises approximately thirty members, wears robes of purple and white in its concerts. Mrs. Charlotte McManamon is the accompanist. . . . Gene Wilson.

The first undertaking of the "D" Club this year was the supervision of the pool table which was placed in the Recreation Room. The Club hopes that more tables can be had in order to lessen the crowded situation.

Initiation will be held this year around the 15th of March. It is hoped that an informal dance can be held in connection with initiation.

The main project of the "D" Club is the attempt to win the Sportsmanship Award. In connection with this award, new members will be asked to submit a short paper on Sportsmanship.

Darlington 6—Camden Academy 45

Darlington fell for the second time this year on October 15 when they played Camden Academy from Camden, S. C. Camden took early control of the ball game and held the Tigers' offense to a mere six points. However, Darlington was open to praise from both sides for their fine sportsmanship and will to win. The only score Darlington came about was from a fine run by Dowling up the center of the field. This was one of the few non-conference games in which the Tigers took part.

Darlington 13—T. M. I. 13

Traveling up to T. M. I. on October 23, the Tigers found themselves strongly favored to win by most observers. However, the power of the T. M. Both teams failed to make one extra point and the score remained deadlocked for the rest of the game. Scoring for the Tigers were Webster and Moss.

BLUE RIDGE

Darlington 24—Blue Ridge 0

The Tigers, still smarting from the deadlocked T. M. I. game, took the field against Blue Ridge School on November 5. Reviving an old traditional rivalry of years gone by, Darlington played host to Riverside Military Academy of Gainesville, Ga. Covington, Coach Wilkinson, DiPrima, MVP

Coach Whip Wilkinson's Baby Tigers scored a terrific victory over the Baylor Red Raiders' JV at the Lakeside on Saturday night, November 12. Baylor was undefeated, and Darlington had lost only one game, that loss being to Baylor in Chattanooga by a 13-7 count. The Tigers were ready for them this time. John DiPrima took the ball, ran off right tackle, cut to the left past the Baylor secondary, and out-ran the rest of the defenders down the left sidelines for a touchdown, a run of 67 yards. Blake Traylor bucked for what would eventually be the game-winning extra point.

After an exchange of punts, Baylor had the ball at their 46. In six plays they scored. A plunge over the right tackle provided the six points. The point after was no good, as the strong Tiger defense rushed in to stop the run. Darlington won 7-6.

McCALLIE

Darlington suffered its first Mid South basketball defeat at the hands of a strong McCallie team by a score of 53-40. First quarter was nip and tuck with Darlington coming up on the short end of a 11-12 score. From here on, it was all McCallie as the Tigers could manage but three points in the second quarter to 15 for the Cadets. The Tigers roared back in the second half, but the Chattanoogans' lead was too great to overcome. Ware, playing an outstanding floor game, was leading scorer for Darlington with 16 points. Redmond and Watson followed with 10 and 17 points.

BAYLOR

The Baylor Cadets came from behind to defeat

a stubborn Tiger five by a 61-49 count in the first encounter between the two teams. Baylor jumped to quick lead early in the game and led 13-9 at the first quarter stop but the Tigers came back and forged ahead 26-25 at the half. Returning from intermission, Baylor regained the lead, and just as quickly lost it. Play see-sawed until the last three minutes. Then Baylor surged ahead, past the tired Tigers, and won 61-49. Redmond was high man with 11. Watson and Ware both played a fine floor game. In the return match the Tigers again went under to Baylor, 45-41. Darlington dominated the play until the last few minutes of the first half when Baylor surged ahead by four points. Play was even through the rest of the game but Baylor kept the upper hand enough to win. Bippy Watson was high scorer with 12 points.

McCALLIE

The Darlington Tigers won a thriller over the McCallie Cadets in an overtime game in Chattanooga. At the end of regulation playing time, the score read 61-all. Eddie Hamler scored the deciding two points on a field goal. The Tiger five played one of their best games of the season, especially from the floor, sinking 70 per cent of their shots.

CASTLE HEIGHTS

Playing without the services of the first five, the Darlington basketballers failed to withstand a last minute surge of the Castle Heights Military Academy team which provided the difference on the home court February 3. By skillful control of the backboard, the Cadets went seven points ahead and with a minute left in the game added two more as the horn sounded the defeat of a surprisingly strong Tiger team, 51-42. Three of Coach McNaul's charges were in Macon undergoing NROTC examinations, but in their stead second stringers did a fine job at holding the Heights five. Clyde Guthrie, starting his first time as center for the Tigers, kept Darlington in control of the backboard during most of the game. Jere Drummond played an outstanding game, collecting second highest number of points for the Tigers High Redmond was top scorer for the homelings with 13.

G. M. A.

Darlington received the cage win over G. M. A. Cadets of College Park on the home court by default. The score at the time of default was 52-40 for the Tigers; thus the official score for the win remained the same.

Action in Darlington's Victory Over Westminster

The Darlington soccer team got off to a good start in their first game of the 1956 season by defeating an inexperienced Westminster team 4-0. Mike Thompson scoring in the first and fourth quarters and "Mo" Imami in the second and third. Charles Whitfield set up the last three goals on corner kicks.

An overconfident Tiger team was defeated by McCallie School on the 13th of January. Scores were made twice by Thompson and once by Imami.

Darlington lost its third game to Baylor, 4-0, in a very wet game in Chattanooga on the 22nd of January. Sleet and rain fell during the game, seriously hampering the efforts of both teams. Little and Thornton stood out for the Tigers but the Cadets were too strong for the visitors.

In a hard-fought game at the Lakeside the Tigers triumphed over Westminster by a well-earned 1-0 count. Rowan got Darlington's marker early in the fourth period. Tigers Bill Little and Charles Whitfield were outstanding and John Drinkwater played an exceptional game for one who was playing in a new position.

The Darlington-Castle Heights game was one of the most exciting games of the season. The first quarter produced a 1-1 tie. The second half closed with the Tigers ahead 2-1 on a penalty kick by Mike Thompson. Castle Heights scored in the fourth quarter to tie the score at 2-2 and send the game into overtime. In the overtime, Dean Newton scored for Darlington to make the final score 3-2. The first quarter score was credited to Rowan.

Darlington took revenge for an early season defeat at the hands of McCallie by racking up a 3-2 score on the Chattanooga's field, Mike Thompson opened the scoring on a penalty kick. Mohsen Imami scored on a pass from Rowan and added another goal in the final quarter, ending the game 3-2, Tigers.

The "Lakesiders" met Baylor on the 16th of February for the second time. The Tigers led at the half by a 2-1 margin but a fired-up Baylor offense copped the game to win 4-2. Imami and Thompson scored for the Darlingtonians.

The Tiger soccer men then met G. M. A.'s predominantly Spanish soccer team in two matches, and won on both occasions. In the first game the Tigers controlled the ball most of the time. A hard shot by Mike Thompson, playing at halfback, scored in the fourth quarter. The Cadets were unable to get past goalie George Gee who made some spectacular saves. The final score was 2-0. In the second battle, played on the Lakeside field, a pass from right wing Whitfeld to center Barner netted a goal. The Cadets retaliated to even the score in the third quarter. Thompson's penalty kick sailed through the goal to set the final score at 2-1 in favor of the Tigers.

Darlington's soccer team wound up their season with an overtime 3-2 decision at Christ School, in a game played at Arden, N. C. Scoring for the Tigers were Walt Alford, Dean Newton and John Wily.

The Tigers placed second in the Mid South for the third straight year as they compiled a 7-3-0 record.

DARLINGTON	8	G. M. A.	1
DARLINGTON	13	WESTMINSTER	8
DARLINGTON	4	BAYLOR	2
DARLINGTON	14	T. M. I.	7

This completed two successive championships and a string of eighteen straight wins.

At the hot corner little Freddy Simonton held the fort along with Bob Shear who played there when he was not on the mound. Shear hit .333 and was third in R.B.I.'s with eight. He also pitched four of the wins.

mid-south pennant

Behind the brilliant pitching efforts of Fred Burkhalter and Bob Shear, the Tiger nine repeated its '51 caper and came away with another Mid-South Championship. The baseballers ground out ten straight victories without a defeat which ran their streak to 18 straight in two years.

In his second year behind the plate Tom West hit .461 and proved a potential base-stealer. The top gun in the lumber department was the first-baseman, Beefy Teat. He slammed the opposing pitchers for a .500 percentage and led the squad with 12 R.B.I.'s.

At second-base, Sproull Dempsey sparked the infield with determination and good play as he went half the season without an error.

Captain Jim Kelly rounded out the keystone with smart, effective play and true leadership.

West Whacks — Griffin Looks

Steward Lyman was second in R.B.I.'s as he played his second season at left field. He hit three home runs against T. M. I. to clinch the flag for the Tigers.

In center field, Bob Griffin led several comebacks with his bat and speed aboard the bases.

Skip Thornton and Bob Goodson shared the right field position to round out the first nine, except for "Big Burk."

Burkhalter won six games for the Tigers, including a shut-out over Baylor. He fanned 72, gave up 22 hits and had an E.R.A. of .54. He hit .272 and drove in eight runs. Defensively he had 23 assists and made only one error. This was one of the best pitching records in many Darlington years.

'55 varsity tennis

Being a comparatively new venture at Darlington School, the swimming team got off to a late start being coached by Mr. Doak. The boys have worked hard, however, training at the pool in Lindale four days a week. The group consists of 22 boys. Among the promising swimmers on the team are Pheil, McCarthy, Greene, Downey, Alexander, Covington, B., and Godard. So far no meets have been scheduled but Coach Doak says that one or two are planned for after Spring Vacation. He is sure that we will make a good showing. The boys now participating in the swimming program are Alexander, Brown, L., Cates, Clark, W., Conrad, Cooke, Covington, Geiger, Godard, Greene, Grimsley, Hitch, Huff, McCarthy, Nelson, Nichols, Patton, Pheil, Gaines, and Downey, C.

Coach Moser and Frank Lock, '56 Team Member

The 1955 golf season brought to Darlington its first Mid-South championship team. With little in the way of competition, Coach Moser's charges waded through a series of ten matches, boasting a 7-2-1 record for the season. Their season record in Mid-South play was 5-1-1, the defeat and tie both coming at the hands of Baylor.

The team, consisting of five top-notch big school players, owed its championship chiefly to its depth. First man on the team was Charlie Dudley, a third year man on the Darlington team and an experienced tournament player. In 1954 he had won the Mid-South championship, and he was heavily favored for a repeat win. At the number two spot was Bippy Watson from Athens, Georgia. Third man was Mike Thompson from Augusta, Georgia. Playing in the fourth position was David Jones of Canton, Georgia, a cousin of the great Bobby Jones. Fifth man was Sonny Jones of Cordele, Georgia, who was a consistent player in the 70's.

OPPORTUNITIES . . .

. . . in the industrial world today are limited. Automatic, atomic energy, a rapidly increasing population—all point to a period of unprecedented growth in the industrial life of the nation.

Like many others, the textile industry is just scratching the surface of its own latter day revolution, which began less than a quarter century ago with the introduction of man-made fibers.

Burlington Industries pioneered in production of fabrics from man-made fibers, and has today grown to be the world's largest and foremost textile concern.

For young men thinking in terms of a career, the textile industry today offers opportunities "without bounds" in manufacturing, merchandising, research, development and design and many other related fields.
